INDEX

TO THE

THIRTY-FIRST VOLUME

OF THE

Weekly Entertainer.

A.

ADMONITION, an, 196.
Advice, a word of, 257.
Anagrams, 338, 437, 477, 498.
Anſwers to, 117, 237, 238.
Anecdote of Burke and Wilkes, 23. of Mr. Burke, 36. of a ſudden change of fortune, 37. of the generoſity of Sir E. Pellew to M. Bergeret, a French officer, whom he had taken priſoner, 45. of the late Lord Chief Juſtice Mansfield, 66. of a conſequential native of Zurich, 76. of the Biſhop of Exeter's benevolent attention to the Rev. John Ridd, a diſtreſſed clergyman, 97. of the Right Hon. C. J. Fox, 157. of a Queen of Spain and a Jeſuit, 177. of that remarkable character Count Schaumbourg-Lippe, 194. of Petrarch, 205. of great ſimplicity of manners, 237. of Lord Bacon and Lord Greville, 257. of Mr. Edwards, a learned orientaliſt, 285. of King George III. and Admiral Duncan, 297. of a modeſt young man, and a haughty perſon high in ſtation, 335. of Mr. Howard, 356. a royal, 397. of Judge Jeffreys, 409. of an Italian Biſhop, 436. of Biſhop Aylmer, 476. of a diſſenting miniſter, 505.
Anecdotes of the celebrated Mr. Howard, 29. of Britiſh naval bravery, 137. of the Duc de Bourbon and his father, 249. of the private life of the late Empreſs Catherine the Second, the preſent Emperor Paul, and Prince Conſtantine his ſon, 291. of Judge Burnet, 336. of the miſtreſſes of George the Firſt, 435. of Sir Sidney Smith, 455. of Oliver Cromwell, 494. of the Earl of Clonmell, 502. of Sir Edmund Saunders, 516.
Anger, uſeful hints for its regulation, 397.
Arbuthnot, Dr. character of, by Warton, 477.
Arithmetic, on, 230.

B.

Bacon, an obſervation of Lord, 270.
Beds, propoſals for a tax on, 17.
Benclong, a native of New South Wales, his curious letter to Governor Philip, 217.
Bon mot, 216.
Bourdalone, character of, 132.
Brahmins, wiſe maxims of the ancient, 211.
Briſtol ſuicide, account of the, 151.
Bullocks, receipt for curing them of the flux or fleet, by J. Buckingham, 37.

Canary

C.

Canary bird, remarkable effect of terror on one, 276.
Carronades, account of their invention, 501.
Character, a, 251.
Charades, 17, 18, 38, 52, 77, 117, 138, 158, 238, 266, 318, 338, 378, 418, 498, 517. Answers to, 57, 98, 177, 197, 237, 258, 277, 278, 317, 337, 357, 377, 397, 437, 457, 461, 497.
Chamfort, remarkable incidents in the life of that celebrated Frenchman, 281.
Charity, calls upon, 357.
Charke, Mrs. deſcription of her indigent ſituation, 110.
China, narrative of the particulars of the late embaſſy of Lord Macartney to China, 5, 33, 67, 87, 105, 133, 146, 166, 187, 205, 225, 245, 286, 301, 327, 351, 369, 392, 405, 427, 431.
Church, ſingular way to preferment in it, 297.
Civilized ſociety, remarks on, 284.
Clerical circular letter, 401.
Contempt, a proper object of, 308.
Converſation, on, 315.
Cottage and garden, account of a, near Tadcaſter, in Yorkſhire, 306.
Curioſity, defence of, 113.

D.

Debauchee, infallible receipt for making a low-minded one, 257.
Dedications, curſory remarks on, 381, 403.
Devil, humble apology for the, 363.
Dog, ſagacity of a, 317.
Duel, account of a remarkable one, addreſſed to men of ſpirit, 333.

E.

Edward, Duke of York, his character, by Mr. Helſham, 327.
Education, on, 336.
Elephant, Dr. Darwin on the ſagacity of the, 231.
Emigrant family, hiſtory of an, 421, 442, 481.
England, on the invaſion of, by General Dumourier, 366, 421.
Enigmas, 58, 118, 218, 258, 298, 357, 378, 438, 478. Anſwers to, 77, 137, 198, 297, 298, 417, 497.
European politics, general review of, 47, 128, 202, 309, 385, 465.
Exerciſe, on, 464.
Eyeſight, information to old people how they may preſerve it, or recover it after it has failed, by Mr. Calder, of North America, 375.

F.

Female character, reflections on the importance of forming it by education, 72.
Fire, particulars of a late melancholy one, 193.
Fortitude, remarkable inſtance of, 487.
French army, account of an accidental interview with a diviſion of the, 191.
French calendar, remarks on the new, 224.

G.

German-Engliſh gardens, 236.
Ghoſt, the, by Mr. Jackſon, of Exeter, 295.
Gleaning, ſtatement of the laws reſpecting, 43.
Good fortune, on a reliance on, 331.

H.

Hale, Lord Chief Juſtice, his remarkable teſtimony to the efficacy of prayer, 196.
Happineſs on 56l. a year, 416.
Hints, 276, 416.
Hohfield, ſome account of that very ingenious mechanic, 21.
Hollis, Mr. of Corſcombe, Dorſet, account of his death, with an anecdote of him, 41.

Home,

Home, on the prudence of remaining at, 271.
Houzouanas, characteriſtic traits of the, 121, 142.
Human life, on the comparative good and evil of, 221.
Human tongue, on the uſes and abuſes of the, 75.

I.

Idleneſs, on, 116.
Innocent amuſements, dangers of, 315.
Inſcription, ſtriking, 257.
Iſaacs, John, otherwiſe Wilmot, account of his trial for murdering John Wilmot, 341.
Jeu d'eſprit, 390.

L.

Learned men, confeſſions of, 201.
Libellous publications, the late Lord Chatham's ſtriking obſervations reſpecting, 297.
Lloyd, Mr. of Oſweſtry, ſketch of his character, 229.
Long life, deſcription of a perſon deſtined for, 515.
Lottery, evils from a prize in the, 321.
Louis XIV. his advice to his ſon, 176.

M.

Machine, curious, 457.
Man, on the true dignity of, 97.
Marvellous, on the love of the, 25.
Mechanical arts and inventions, on, 125.
Mediocrity, an honeſt one ſuperior in dignity to ill-acquired opulence, 211.
Mentiroſo, Don Pedro de, narrative of, 232, 241, 262.
Military aſſociations, on, 449.
Monkey, obſervations on his hand, by Dr. Darwin, 316.
Monteſquieu, detached thoughts of, 95.

N.

Negro trade, origin of the, 76.
New theatre, plan for a, 112.
North, character of Lord, 277.

O.

O'Connor, Arthur, Eſq. account of his trial, and of Quigley, Binns, Allen, and Leary, for high treaſon, 451, 471, 504.

P.

Paine, modeſty of Thomas, 377.
Parliamentary debates, account of the firſt writer of them in modern times, from memory, and a real attendance, 64.
Parr, Dr. ſketch of his character, by Mr. Dyer, 255.
Paſſions, the irraſcible, fruitful ſources of miſery, 236.
Politeneſs, on, 51.
Proſperity and happineſs very different things, 251.
Ptolemeus, particulars of the wreck of the, 11.

Q.

Quakers, their yearly epiſtle, 485.
Queen's birth-day, account of the celebration of the, 81.
Queſtions, 17, 118, 178, 278, 318, 398, 458, 517. Anſwers to, 57, 97, 157, 217, 337, 417, 497.

R.

Rebuſes, 18, 78, 98, 138, 178, 198, 218, 238, 278, 358, 398, 418, 477, 517, 518. Anſwers to, 17, 137, 218, 338, 357, 397, 418, 437, 457, 458, 497.
Reflections, 76, 136, 156, 257, 285, 336, 376, 384, 417.
Revenge, the ſweetneſs of, 337.
Rhine-fall, account of the, one of the cataracts of that river, near Schaffhauſen, in Switzerland, 93.
Roman ſaw, a, 317.
Ruling paſſion ſtrong in death, 356.

S.

Sealing wax, obſervations reſpecting, 9.

Serioufneſs,

Seriouſneſs, on, 4.
Sermon, Mr. Jones's curious and uſeful remark on the delivery of one, 215.
Shopkeepers, on the ſublimity of, 141.
Society, on, 37.
Somers, character of Lord, 437.
Squib, political, 24.
Story, an extraordinary, 49.
Story, how to ſhorten one, a dialogue, 343.
Strong, Mr. Joſeph, a celebrated blind man, account of, 252.
Surgical operation, one that ought to be generally known, 304.

T.

Temple of pleaſure, the, 285.
Time, propoſal for the regulation of, 12.
Timid man, hiſtory of one become firm, 509.
Trade, obſervations on, 175.
Travellers, hint to, and all who frequent inns and taverns, 196.
Tribune frigate, narrative of the loſs of the, 161.
Trials, intereſting, 170, 183, 253, 305, 410, 431.

V.

Valour, remarkable inſtance of, 441.
Vanity, reflections on, 216.
Verſes. The tempeſt, by J. H. of South Petherton, 18. ſonnet, written on viewing an object of diſtreſs in a ſtormy night, in London, 20. lines on ſeeing an elegant monument, erected in the pariſh church of Sydling, Dorſet, to the memory of Lady Eliz. Smith, wife of Sir John Smith, Bart. 39. on our Saviour's nativity, by W. Baker, of Ilcheſter, ibid. man, by Mr. Smith, 40. on the death of a child, ibid. on reading Thomſon's Seaſons, by Ormond, 59. deſcription of an aſſize town, 60. a new ſong in praiſe of ſeamen, 79. to a lady, who illiberally ridiculed the plainneſs of another's dreſs, 80. occaſional prologue ſpoken to the celebrated tragedy of "The Siege of Aquileia," performed by the young gentlemen of Mr. Weatherdon's ſchool, in Newton Abbot, on December 15, 1797, 99. the ſtorm, by Claudio, of Warminſter, 100. lines to the memory of the gallant Captain Burgeſs, who was killed October 11, 1797, in that ever-memorable engagement between the Engliſh and Dutch fleets, which ended in a complete victory over the Dutch, by F. Hancock, of Exeter, 119. to S. G. on his birth-day, by P. M. J. of Briſtol, 120. John Doe and Richard Roe, ibid. ode for the new year, 1798, by H. J. Pye, Eſq. Poet-Laureat, 139. invocation to love, by Œdipus, of Yeovil, 140. epitaph on Anne Green, a Quaker, in Ramſbury, ibid. on the new year, 1798, by M. Barrett, jun. of Exon, 159. ode to philanthropy, by B. B. of Tiverton, 160. lines, preſented with an almanack for 1797, by Mr. Pratt, ibid. on the death of a babe, by J. Traer, of Taunton, 179. on the death of a young lady, by W. Rennels, of Barnſtaple, 180. lines addreſſed by Miſs A——, at Taunton, to Mr. and Mrs. D——, of Gwernygoe, in Montgomeryſhire, on being removed at a great diſtance from them, 199. invocation to peace, by J. D. of Sydling, 200. on Maſon, from the Purſuits of Literature," a poem, ibid. the raft, or French arrears liquidated, by Grus, 219. addreſs to Glenowen, by Mrs. Robinſon, 220. lines addreſſed to Mr. Richard Cox, ſurgeon, &c. Biſhop's Lydeard, Somerſet, ſet, by a lady, on his recovering her huſband and child from a dangerous fever, by Maria, 239. ſonnet, by M. B, jun. of Exon, 240. the valiant ruſtic, 258. Hannah, a plaintive tale, by Robert Southey, 260. the tufts of violets, by William Gifford, Eſq. 279. a new ſong, entitled, "Brave Britons unite," 280. pity, or the bullfinch's neſt, a paſtoral, 299. on the month of May, 300. epitaph on a barber, ibid. the grave, and elegy, by W. Rennels, of Barnſtaple, 319. ſtanzas, written in Charlotte Smith's Sonnets, by M.B. jun. of Exon, 320. thoughts on reading hiſtory, ibid. lines (with ſome corrections) written by Sarah Chapple, a young woman of Swimbridge, Devonſhire, in very humble life, who has been totally blind for ſome years, occaſioned by the death of her benefactreſs, who left her ſomething by will, and addreſſed to her daughter, Miſs Thorn, who added to the benefaction, 339. ſonnet, tranſlated from the Italian of Petrarch, 340. virtue and diſcontent, a viſion, by Philander, of Tiverton, 359. on the death of a mother, 360. on fortune, ibid. ſtanzas from that animated Pindaric, Taſker's Ode to the Warlike Genius of Great Britain, as lately recited at the Exeter Theatre, by deſire of the officers of the Wiltſhire militia, 379. on my native home, by Mrs. Robinſon, 380. chit-chat at a country ball, ibid. ſtanzas addreſſed to Miſs A——, of Taunton, by W. S. of that place, 399. on returning to the country in 1783, by Lady Manners, ibid. on ſpring, addreſſed to Anna, by F. Hancock, of Exeter, 419. invocation to virtue, by Recluſe, of Yeovil, 420. on reaſon and love, written at the requeſt of a lady, who reſtricted the author to ſix lines, 420. on a country life, written in town, 439. the town life, ibid. the flower garden, by P. M. I. of Briſtol, 459. ſpring, addreſſed to Suſan, by W. Hoare, jun. of Dean Prior, 460. lines on the late loſs of the Tribune frigate, of 44 guns, near Halifax, by G. Hazel, of Barnſtaple, 479. ſonnet, by Miſs Seward. ibid. ſonnet, by M.B. of Exeter, 480. lines on the death of Miſs E. Mawbey, December 30, 1797, by her father, Sir Joſeph Mawbey, Bart. ibid. ode for his Majeſty's birth-day, 499. a morning's excurſion, by G. Hazel, of Barnſtaple, 500. a ballad, by Henry, 519.

Virtuous friendſhip the guardian angel of the human character, 261.

Vulgar error, 237.

W.

Water, account of the diſtreſſing ſcarcity of it at Mount Etna, 375.

Watſon, Biſhop, extract from his addreſs to the people of Great Britain, 101.

Watts, Dr. Iſaac, ſketch of his character, by Dr. Knox, 257.

Wilcocks, Rev. Joſeph, ſketch of his character, 361.

Witchcraft, on the revival of, 412.

Wives, hints for the protection of, 61.

Women, on the talents of, 156.

World, how to go quietly through the, 1.

Wurmſer, Marſhal, ſketch of the life of that celebrated man, 181.

Y.

Young ladies, Dr. Darwin's obſervations on their dreſs, 212.